

Haddon Outdoor Events Ltd Data Private Policy

Collection of Personal Data

Haddon Events gathers data to ensure we can provide you with the services you need for booking our events and to stay connected with us for updates on event dates via newsletters. You voluntarily provide this data when you register for our fairs by completing a booking form or when you participate in our fairs and subscribe to our newsletter mailing list.

The information gathered from stallholders, such as company name, your personal name, contact number, email address, and vehicle registration number, is stored in our database. This database is securely maintained on a server by a third-party company, which does not have access to the data but solely manages the service that hosts this information

We do not store or process any payment data ourselves; instead, our third-party payment processors, Secure Hosting – Monek Ltd, are responsible for securely handling credit and debit card transactions. They are part of Lloyds Bank and specialise in secure payment processing.

The customer information we gather, which includes the company name, your personal name, contact number, and email address, is maintained on our mailing database. This database is independently stored and hosted by Your Mailing List Provider.

Accessing Your Data

You can access the data and information we have on file by reaching out to us directly using our email address and contact number provided on our website www.haddonevents.co.uk. We are more than willing to provide any information we have on file for you.

Utilization of Personal Data

All of our customer information is securely stored on a server by a trusted third-party company. This third-party provider does not have access to the data; they solely manage and maintain the service where the data is stored.

We want to assure you that we never share your data with third parties or permit the use of your data for any other advertising or marketing purposes. Your information is kept confidential and used exclusively for our own services.

We will send you marketing communications if you have provided us with your explicit consent. You have the flexibility to modify your preferences at any time by reaching out to us directly or by using the unsubscribe feature in the options provided by Your Mailing List Provider at the bottom of each email newsletter.
